

On High-Dimensional Markov Chains: Models and Algorithms

Wai-Ki Ching

wkc@maths.hku.hk

DEPARTMENT OF MATHEMATICS, THE UNIVERSITY OF HONG KONG, HONG KONG

Markov chains are popular models for modeling a lot of practical systems including categorical data sequences. In this talk, we present some high-dimensional Markov chain models with applications. In particular, the models are practical when there is limited data available. Numerical examples will also be given to demonstrate the effectiveness of the models.