

Option Pricing Models

This project will look into models used for pricing options. This project will aim to look at different models used and compare the differences. The student may also attempt to write a programme that can replicate the more complex models that may take into account real data.