

Mathematics of Vision

Stephen Smale

City University of Hong Kong

Our goal is to understand intelligence and the visual cortex. Towards this end a model of the neural response is given in terms of Kernels and Hilbert spaces. This is used for some simple experiments in pattern recognition.